BRIEF PROFILE OF IAGG FACULTY

PROFESSOR JOHN MORLEY is currently a SLUCare physician, the Dammert Professor of Gerontology and director of the division of geriatric medicine and acting director of the division of endocrinology at Saint Louis University School of Medicine. He also co-directs the Saint Louis University Center for Aging Successfully and is director of Geriatric Research, Education and Clinical Center at the St. Louis VA Medical Center. Professor Morley obtained his medical degree (MD) at the University of Witwatersrand in Johannesburg, South Africa. Professor Morley specializes in research on Aging Successfully, Alzheimer's disease, nutrition and endocrinology. He has authored over 20 books and more than 1000 research and educational articles in these areas. He is a world renowned speaker who appears regularly on television and radio and is widely quoted in the print media.

PROFESSOR BRUNO VELLAS is currently the President of the International Association of Gerontology and Geriatrics, Editor in Chief of the Journal of Nutrition, Health & Aging, Chairman of the Toulouse Gérontopôle, Chief of the Department of Internal Medicine and Geriatrics at the Toulouse University Hospital, and Chief of Alzheimer's Disease Clinical Research Centre, University of Toulouse. He is also member of the INSERM (National Institute of Medical Research) Unit558 on Aging. He is Principal investigator of the European Alzheimer's Disease Consortium (EADC) and of other large international trials in the field of Alzheimer's disease. Professor Vellas obtained his medical degree (MD) and PhD from the University Paul Sabatier, Toulouse, and for more than fifteen years now, he has been involved in many studies on Alzheimer's disease. Professor Vellas has published over 300 articles related to Alzheimer's disease and especially on disease modifying treatment.

PROFESSOR DEBBIE TOLSON is currently Professor of Gerontological Nursing in the School of Health and Life Sciences, Director of the Scottish Centre of Evidence-Based Care of Older People, and Later Life Research Group Leader within the Institute for Applied Health Research at Glasgow Caledonian University, UK. Professor Tolson gained a first class BSc (Hons) Nursing Studies from South Bank Polytechnic/Guys Hospital, MSc Nursing from University of London, and PhD from Glasgow Caledonian University. She is a nurse leader with an international reputation for advancing evidence based care with older people and the use of communities of practice to improve interdisciplinary practice within nursing homes, hospitals and community settings.

In 2010 her contribution to research with older people was recognised by St Louis University (USA) Medical School through the award of the Jim Flood Memorial Alzheimer Disease Distinguished Lectureship. She is an Honorary Fellow of the Queens Nursing Institute: Scotland. She was the recipient of the Sigma Theta Tau International, 2007 award for the Best of Worldviews on Evidence Based Nursing. She has published over 100 peer reviewed research papers, other outputs include national care guidance for nurses and patients, radio broadcasts and popular press.
